Twitter Competition Codes

The following Competition Codes (hashtags) can be used for reporting the various competitions in Twitter. This will allow the end users to easily filter the updates for the competition they are interested in.

So for example a match in the Premier League would have updates being reported with the hashtag #ncupl. It is advisable to put your hashtag at the start of the message so that it will not be cut off by Twitter owing to the 140 character limit of the message format. It may also make for easier reading having the competition code at the start of the update.
